

MSBS Pension for Life for Members Over 55 years

For members of the Australian Defence force who stayed with MSBS Superannuation at discharge are able to take their Super as a pension or as a lump sum from the age of 55. If taken as a pension it will be paid fortnightly until death, irrespective of how much was invested.

At death, if a recognized partner is named as a beneficiary, and they succeed you, they will receive 2/3 of the pension until their death.

This applies irrespective of your working status.

Contact CSC to apply or find out more details. <https://www.csc.gov.au/>

Your RAAF alpha numeric will have changed. The RAAF is now Rxxxxxx and not A or O. Call CSC now and discuss what opportunities you have to recover your super.

This Super cannot be rolled over to commercial superannuation accounts, but it can be taken as a lump sum. However, this will be heavily taxed. Seek advice from your accountant or financial advisor if you are unsure.
